STILLMAN DROPS DIVORCE SUIT, SON ACKNOWLEDGED

Millionaire Banker Agrees To Pay Wife $9,000 Year

CASE WAS SENSATIONAL

Half Breed Indian Named By Husband, Show Girl By Wife

(Reuter's Service)

New York, May 23.—The newspapers state that Mr. James A. Stillman, the millionaire president of the National City Bank, has agreed to cease action against his wife for divorce. The case has centered around the alleged indiscretions of Mrs. Stillman with a half-breed guide, Fred Beauvais, at Three Rivers, Quebec. The settlement will, it is stated, involve Mr. Stillman's recognition of the legitimacy of his son, Guy Stillman, and the payment to Mrs. Stillman of $9,000 per annum.

The Stillman divorce case was one of the most sensational ever filed in New York. Stillman, as head of the National City bank, is one of the financial giants of America, his bank being the largest in the United States and one of the largest in the world.

Public interest in the case centered around the youngest child of the Stillmans, litt'e Guy Stillman, whom the banker repudiated as not being of his own blood. This created a furore throughout the country, and won wide sympathy for Mrs. Stillman, whose friends were practically a unit in denouncing, not only the falsity of the charge, but its cruelty as well.

According to today's cable despatch Stillman retracts this charge, and acknowledges Guy as his own son. This will mean that Guy will share in his father's immense fortune without the legal struggle that was predicted when the banker first filed his suit.

In a counter suit against her husband Mrs. Stillman named a Broadway chorus girl. American papers for weeks have been full of accounts of the suit, some of them devoting whole pages daily to the developments. Some of the most distinguished lawyers in America were retained by both sides.

GUY STILLMAN

GUY Stillman, the little lad pictured above, has been acknowledged by his father, James Stillman, president of the National City bank and one of the wealthiest men in America. When the Stillman divorce suit was filed the father announced that he would prove that Guy's father was the half breed Indian guide of Three Rivers, Canada, named by the banker as co-respondent. This charge the father has retracted, and Guy, when he becomes of age, will share in the Stillman millions.

All Shanghai Joins In Empire Day Observance

All British residents and many others from all parts of the world joined in Shanghai's observance yesterday of Empire Day when varied and colorful events were held through the day and evening. The British flag was in evidence in every part of the Settlement, flying in the sunshine from every tram car, from automobiles, from homes and business establishments. Out in the harbor warships and other craft dressed ship in honor of the occasion.

The opening event of the day took place at the British Consulate at 8 o'clock in the morning This consisted of the ceremony of hoisting the Union Jack by a squad of Boy Scouts. Below the British standard long streamers were raised bearing the flags of all the Dominions and countries of the British Empire.

CATHEDRAL SERVICES

While this ceremony was in progress a service of Holy Communion was held at Holy Trinity Cathedral and following the first service a special service began at 10:30 o'clock. This was conducted by the Rev. C. E. Spencer, Sub-dean, and was attended by representatives of the British Consulate, of the Navy, by members of the Shanghai Volunteer Corps and by many returned officers and men in uniform in addition to the large congregation of civilians.

After singing "O God Our Help in Ages Past," the Lord's Prayer, Psalm 121 and the lesson (1st Peter II, XI) special prayers were offered for King and Parliament.

The address of the Rev. C. E. Spencer was on the colors of the flag. Speaking of the colors of the British flag he said it was a symbol for which many men had died. The red, he said, was a symbol of two things, suffering and service and he added that most of the great things of this world had been done by sufferers.

The white of the flag, he said, signified righteousness imposing two obligations—to be just and to be pure. Blue, the speaker said, was the color expressing loyalty.

Among those at the service were Sir Everard Fraser, British Consul-General, Judge Skinner Turner of the British Supreme Court and Admiral Borrett. The service came to an end with the singing of the National Anthem.

CONSULATE CEREMONY

The parade to the British Consulate took place at noon. In it marched detachments from the men-of-war in port, British units of the Shanghai Volunteer Corps, detachments of mounted Indians and Indian police. Under command of Col. Marr Johnson and headed by the Municipal Band the parade marched to the Consulate where a large crowd had assembled. Beneath the flag a platform had been erected for returned officers and men in addition to the official party. Sir Everard and Lady Fraser were accompanied by a number of naval officers, Judge Skinner Turner, representatives of the Dominions, Mr. G. W. King, Mr. H. H. Fox, Mr. Brooke-Smith, Chairman and other members of the Municipal Council, Mr. K. J. McEuen and Capt. E. I. M. Barrett. After the Royal Salute had been given those present stood at attention while the National Anthem was played.

Following the Royal Salute Sir Everard, accompanied by Maj. L. E. Canning, Col. Marr Johnson and Mr. C. F. Garstin inspected the various military units which then marched past the saluting base, the Consul-General again taking the salute. When the parade had reformed three cheers were given for King and Empire on call of Col. Marr Johnson and the ceremony closed with the presentation of a number of medals.

An interesting feature of the parade and the subsequent ceremony at the Consulate was the flight high above the throngs of Maj. W. R. McBain's airplane which was piloted by Mr. E. E. Fresson, formerly of the Royal Air Forces. The decorations that were presented by the British Consul-General were as follows:

Lt. J. Budgen, R.N.R. Distinguished Service Cross.

Capt. G. A. Davies-Colley, late Manchester Regt., Military Cross.

Lt. Com. Bernard Firth, R.N.R., Officer of the O.B.E. (Military Division).

Lionel Edgar Canning, Officer of the O.B.E. (Civil Division).

Rev. John Darroch, D.D. Officer of the O.B.E. (Civil Division).

Stephen John Deeks, Officer of the O.B.E. (Civil Division).

Standard Oil Men Seek Concessions In Dutch Colonies

(Reuter's Service)

Rotterdam, May 23.—According to the Telegraaf, two representatives of the Standard Oil Company have arrived at the Hague with a view to obtaining a concession for the exploitation of one-half of the Djambi oilfields. They express the hope that the Dutch First Chamber will refer back to the Second Chamber the bill dealing with these oilfields, and that it will be amended so as to give tht Standard Oil Company equal opportunities with the Royal Dutch Company.

They point out that the proposed concessions, covering three and one-half million acres, are so extensive that the revenues of the Dutch State would be considerably increased if the oilfields were exploited on a competitive basis by the Standard Oil and Royal Dutch Companies, instead of by the latter concern alone.

Harding Urges Industrial Unity

(Reuter's Service)

New York, May 23.—Speaking at a banquet here, President Harding appealed for the co-operation of every factor in American industry in order to put the nation's house in order. He promised that Government interference in business would be reduced to a minimum, and Government co-operation in all properly conducted businesses would be expanded and broadened.

He suggested that the Allied loans should be put into a more tangible form, that exchange facilities should be improved, and that all financial policies should be directed to the protection of the gold standard.

New York, May 24.—In an impromptu peroration, President Harding declared that the aspiration of his administration was to inaugurate an era of understanding between the Government and the people and between the nations. He wanted America, he said, to have nothing to do with any nation that was unwilling to sit at the table and show its cards.

BRUTALITY IN WAR PRISONS ADMITTED BY HUN SOLDIER

Sergeant Heyman Confesses To Beating Prisoners

FRIGHTFUL TALES

Men Pinioned Under Dripping Water Until Minds Collapsed

(Reuter's Service)

Leipzig, May 23.—The trials of war-criminals were opened here today. Cinema operators waited outside the Hotel Astoria for the departure of the British Commissioners and witnesses, but little public interest was evinced, there being a mere sprinkling of spectators outside and inside the Supreme Court.

The Solicitor-General, Sir Ernest Pollock, who is head of the Commission, and his three colleagues, are accommodated at a table facing the seven judges.

The first case brought before the court was that of Sergeant Heyman, who is charged with ill-treatment of prisoners at Herne Camp.

Some frightful treatment meted out to prisoners of war was described at this trial. Heyman, whom the President of the court examined for two hours, admitted beating prisoners.

Evidence adduced showed that men were kept under a hot and cold water douche for hours, which treatment sometimes resulted in unbalancing their minds, while one prisoner had died as a result of it. Others had been clubbed because they refused to do work in the mines. Instances were also quoted of bread and water punishment extending over 56 days.

Harding Hopes U.S. Won't Be Provoked

(Reuter's Service)

New York, May 22.—In connection with funeral ceremonies in honor of the 5,000 dead soldiers brought from France, President Harding laid a wreath on the coffin of the first American soldier to die on German soil, with the inscription, "It must not be again." In the course of a long patriotic address, Mr. Harding said he did not pretend that there would be no more war but he wished that America might be a nation so powerful in righteousness that none dare provoke her wrath.

JAPAN'S PRINCE

The Hague, May 23.—Crown Prince Hirohito is to visit Holland about the middle of June after paying visits to Paris and Brussels.

Destroyer Fleet Coming In June

Announcement was issued yesterday by American naval authorities that the Thirteenth and Twenty-sixth Destroyer Divisions and the Hart of the Mine Detachment, thirteen warcraft in all and manned by upwards of 1,500 men, will sail from Manila for Shanghai on June 6 under Capt. Willis McDowell, Commander of the Destroyer Squadron. It is expected that the fleet of destroyers will arrive in this port June 9 or 10. Captain McDowell will probably fly his flag on the Hovey.

The destroyer units of the 13th Division are the Greer, Tarbell, Elliott, Lea, Yarnall and Upshur. Those of the 26th Division are the Long, Hovey, Southard, Broome, Chandler and Alden. The supply ship Panther will not come with the destroyers to Shanghai.

FRENCH DROP CONDITIONS FOR PARLEY ON POLAND

Agreement To Meeting Of Supreme Council Without Strings

BERLIN WARNED

Fighting On Frontier To Be Met By Reprisals By Allies

(Reuter's Service)

London, May 23.—Reuter is informed that the French Government's agreement to a meeting of the Supreme Council was unconditional. The British Government has informed the French Government that it is fully conscious of the need of sending British troops to Upper Silesia and the French Government has welcomed the suggestion.

It is therefore probable that the four British battalions formerly stationed in Upper Silesia, will shortly be re-dispatched there from the Army of Occupation.

London, May 23.—The bitterness of the French press on the Upper Silesian question shows no signs of abatement. While expressing belief on the sincerity of the new German Chancellor, Dr. Wirth, the newspapers voice the opinion that he is powerless against the complicity of the police and military; they also complain that Mr. Lloyd George refrained from supporting the French representations to Berlin.

On the other hand, authoritative circles in London are surprised at a passage with reference to this matter in the note dispatched by M. Briand to London on Saturday. While emphasis is laid on the fact that unauthorised incursions of volunteers into the plebiscite areas should be prevented, it is pointed out that Lord D'Abernon has several times already approached the German Government with completely successful results.

London, May 23.—The fighting between the Germans and Polish insurgents was apparently organised on a large scale, according to Reuter's correspondent at Sosnowiec, who, quoting French sources, says that the German offensive is developing in three directions.

The attack by the Germans near the Oder had as its objective Gross-Stein, which was occupied after a fierce struggle. A column 20,000 strong with armored trains is operating along the Kreuzberg-Rosenberg Railway, aiming at the industrial region of the Polish frontier, while a third force from ratibor has Gleiwitz as its objective. The insurgents are everywhere resisting desperately.

French diplomatic circles are excited over the foregoing occurrences. It is understood from despatches received from Reuter's Paris correspondent that the German Ambassadors at Paris and London have been requested to warn the Imperial Government immediately to cease from these aggressive movements if Allied reprisals are not desired.

23 Dead, 130 Hurt In Egyptian Riots

(Reuter's Service)

Alexandria, May 23.—According to an official communique, with the exception of some firing from balconies which the authorities have threatened to subdue with machine-guns, the rioting here has now been quelled. The total casualties are twenty-three killed and 130 wounded. There were no British casualties.

The Unexpurgated Diary Of A Shanghai Baby

By Elsie McCormick

MAY twenty-second—Nobody home today. All gone to see Henli regatta. Family left in hurry this morning after Auntie changed dress four times and complexion twice. Auntie said she had put on medium tint, and papa said that described it, as it was certainly neither rare nor well-done. Mama remarked that she lets her color come and go, and papa answered yes, that it comes on in the morning and goes off at night.

"It's too bad we didn't get an invitation to go on a house-boat," said mama.

Papa said that the boats were very crowded and that they would have had as much privacy as an elephant in zoo, also that he would probably be expected to sleep on hatch. Auntie finally said she was going to wear a fluffy summer girl's costume, and papa remarked that it would probably be all right as long as the fluffy summer didn't catch her in it.

Family went out at last and banged door, after Auntie came back twice to put more powder on nose and once to put perfume behind ear. Heard papa say that it was a shame to waste two good bottles on pickles but mama told him to stop talking and call a car.

"The kind of car this family is going to travel in passes the corner every five minutes without being called," said papa. Mama said that he was as tight with his money as Auntie's new shoes, but papa said that all he had left after buying railroad tickets was a dollar with copper filling and he was saving that for church.

MAY twenty-second—Pleasant day, Houseboy, cook, coolie, and relations having game on dining-room table with family's mah-jongg set. Amah trying on papa's silk socks left by houseboy. Amah's sister making self useful by sewing china buttons on papa's dress shirt. Upstairs coolie enjoying florida water. Will probably have to squall to get chow.

MAY twenty-second — Had exciting time this afternoon, as after mah-jongg party everybody went to Chinese theater. Was taken by amah. Had interesting time trying to dodge hot towels thrown from aisles and empty water-melon seeds falling from gallery. Music combination of cook stepping on cat's tail and houseboy breaking dishes. Had seed candy and two peanuts. Had to swallow peanuts all in one piece as found that new teeth don't bit.

MAY twenty-third—Nice day, but have funny feeling inside. Auntie bust putting talcum powder on sunburn. Said she saw Bertie at regatta and papa remarked that if he isn't careful they'll cancel his citizenship at the American Consulate for carrying a walking stick more than an inch in diameter.

"I don't know why he didn't row," said Auntie, he has a wonderful build. I heard that he stands 5 feet 11 inches in his gym suit and weighs 150 pounds in his stocking feet."

Papa said that Bertie was probably like Jess Willard in being a champion heavy-weight from the neck and a champion lightweight from the neck up.

Mama asked papa if he was glad he went to the regatta and he said yes, that he held four aces once and had a full house several times.

"Is that all you got out of it?" asked mama.

"Well," said papa, "I used to wish I could go back for a time and buy a ticket for the Zeigfeld Follies, but after seeing the bathing suits at Henli, I've ceased to be homesick. The tailors who made them must have stolen enough material to buy outfits for the whole family. Most of them were as short as the love letters of a man with a sprained arm."

Auntie said she liked regatta very much, but didn't see why they had people to row when there was a man at the back of the boat to pull it along with strings.

MAY twenty-fourth—Not much doing today. Sat on floor during tiffin and heard mama ask papa if he would have a mango.

"Do I eat it?" asked papa, "I always thought the mango was a dance."

"You probably also thought that the papaia was something to play on the ukelele," said mama, with next-door girl expression.

Papa said that he might be ignorant, but at least he didn't

SMUTS' PLEA FOR ISOLATION REJECTED BY BRITISH PRESS

'Times' Calls S. African Premier's Plan Unworkable

OTHERS LAUD HIM

Newspapers Admit Necessity For Amending Jap Pact

(Reuter's Service)

London, May 23.—The speeches of General Smuts and Mr. Hughes have been given much prominence, as heralding the approach of the discussions of the Imperial Cabinet.

Great significance is attached to the fact that Mr. Hughes has now circulated in Great Britain a full report of his speech in the Australian House of Representatives on the eve of his departure, in which he outlined his views on Imperial matters.

The Times expresses the opinion that General Smuts's view of the British Empire's relations with Europe are incompatible with history, and inconsistent with the elementary interests of England and the Empire. It declares there has never been a tradition of avoidance of European entanglements and points out that, since Tudor times, England has been forced to take a leading part in European politics as a mere matter of self-defense.

It was in the wars she fought as a European power that most of the Empire was acquired, including the territories which form the core of the South African Union. Isolation is nowadays more impossible than ever, with the growing number of, and the intimacy of the necessary relations among, civilised peoples, the Times concludes.

The Daily Chronicle states that General Smuts' speech has all the breadth and outlook associated with his statesmanship. The Journal agrees with General Smuts that the Anglo-Japanese Treaty must be viewed from the angle of Anglo-American co-operation but as regards the European peace problem, it declares that the South African Prime Minister shows a certain conflict of purpose, because it is well-nigh impossible for the British Empire to act as peace-maker between the French and Germans, and at the same time to avoid Continent entanglements.

The Daily News says: "There is good reason for singling out the Anglo-Japanese Alliance for special consideration, because it opens up the problems of naval defense and direction of foreign policy, with which the Dominions are intimately concerned. The coming Conference has a great opportunity of solving the greater problem of which the Anglo-Japanese Alliance is only a part, namely, that of putting the relations among the British Empire, America and Japan on a permanent basis of peace."

The Manchester Guardian declares that "General Smuts deals with the unusually complex and far-reaching tasks confronting the Conference of Dominion

DONALD McCOLL TO LECTURE ON CITY TRANSPORT

General Manager Of Tramway Company Offers Solution To Traffic Problem

One of Shanghai's most vital problems, the question of transportation will be discussed in full tonight by Mr. Donald McColl, general manager of the Shanghai Electric Construction Co., in the Union Church hall, beginning at 9:15.

The lecture which will be given at the invitation of the Shanghai Civic League, is to be illustrated by specially prepared lantern slides and by cinema pictures. While the lecture is entitled "Transport in Cities" it has special reference to Shanghai and the growing problem of Shanghai's transportation.

The history of transportation from the time of the ancient empires; the interesting story of Shanghai's growth with no avenue for transport excepting the waterways; and the coming of railways and roadways will be reviewed in Mr. McColl's lecture.

The peculiar geography of the Shanghai Settlement and the concentration of its three quarter of a million population within narrow confines and the consequent congestion of traffic all will be considered. Present day systems and vehicles of modern Shanghai transport, their number and efficiency are studied and compared in intelligent fashion with other years and with other cities.

The waterfront congestion, the facilities available for handling goods at the wharves, the question of railway terminals, and the bringing of the railway to the wharves, the problems of creek and river congestions will be given special attention by Mr. McColl.

Mr. McColl is an expert in transport. He has studied the subject in every city in the world where a problem in modern traffic exists. His lecture, from the advance notices shows a keen and studious understanding of Shanghai's traffic and transport situation, and he offers solutions for every help to congested traffic, from the lowly wheelbarrow to the railway and steamship handling of goods, or the transport of passengers by electric vehicles.

Some of the recommendations offered by Mr. McColl are novel, if not startling, but they all reach the core of each difficult condition.

Members of the Shanghai Community will get a thorough understanding of Shanghai transport and a number of ideas as to how to meet the traffic problem by attending tonight's lecture, at 9:15.

Portugal Rejects Macao Harbor Plan

(Reuter's Pacific Service)

Hongkong, May 24.—The Hongkong Telegraph states that the Portuguese Government has turned down the scheme for the Macao harbor works which was submitted a few months ago for its sanction. The Lisbon Government has requested the Macao Government to remit to Lisbon the nine million dollars raised through the opium monopoly and earmarked for the proposed harbor works.

A meeting of protest against the decision of the Portuguese Government will be held shortly by the citizens. No reason has been vouchsafed for the action of the Lisbon Government and no explanation has been given of the request that the money should be remitted to Lisbon. It is persistently rumored that the Governor of Macao has tendered his resignation.

Smuts' Isolation Plea Rejected

Premiers with the wisdom and imagination that is expected of him. The three chief items on the June agenda—viz., the foreign policy of the British Empire, the renewal of the Anglo-Japanese Alliance and Imperial defensive measures—are parts of one program, which demands clear and earnest thinking.

"General Smuts sums up the essentials of the Anglo-Japanese question in his plea for an Imperial foreign outlook which will make possible Anglo-American co-operation against war and for the continuance of the Anglo-Japanese Alliance if it does not impair that end.

"The time is now ripe for a full and frank discussion with regard to armaments by the three great remaining naval Powers. The earnest spirit in which the Dominion Premiers approach the Conference must reinforce the need of an agreement on this question. All that is needed is a firm lead by one of the Powers concerned."

London, May 23.—Mr. Sastri, the Indian delegate to the Imperial Conference, in the course of an interview with a Reuter's representative, declared his attitude at the Conference would be one of friendliness towards all proposals tending to make the Empire a powerful political unit, but emphasised the need for absolute equality as between the people of India and those of the other Dominions.

He would advance at the Conference the principle that if people of other Dominions were free to come to India to trade or practice their professions, then Indians should be equally free to settle in any Dominion.

India should be independent fiscally, and conceivably India would be willing to sell her goods to England at preferential rates but why should India sell goods more cheaply to South Africa, which ill-treated Indians, than to foreign countries, unless India got some advantage in return, Mr. Sastri asked.

With regard to the Anglo-Japanese Alliance, Indians would continue to criticise it as long as it provided for the Japanese assisting to maintain order in India.

Referring to defence, Mr. Sastri urged that India wanted her expenses greatly curtailed. India would not consent to any defence arrangements which would abolish her power of control, subject to Imperial requirements. He declared that India would not consent to send an Indian squadron to assist Australia in the event of war with Japan as long as Indians were excluded from Australia. Similarly, the attitude of South Africa towards Indians did not make for co-operation with South Africa, which invited Indians to assist her when labor was scarce, and made promises which he hoped would be kept.

Mr. Sastri concluded by expressing the hope that the Conference would result in ameliorating the lot of Indians in different parts of the Empire.

In The U. S. Court For China

L. Van der Stegen, Plaintiff
v.
Neuss, Hesslein and Company, Inc., Defendant.
Cause No. 1032
Order
Filed May 24, 1921.
Acting Clerk.

SYLLABUS

1. Contracts; Pleading.—An averment that the parties "entered into a contract" is admitted by a demurrer and a petition so alleging cannot be assailed for insufficiency because of discrepancies between the exhibits relating to such contract.

2. Id.: Id.: Id.:—A rule that where an action is brought on a written instrument purporting to contain the entire agreement the Court will not look beyond its terms does not apply to a mere memorandum not alleged to be complete.

James B. Davies, Esq., for the demurrant.

James Ross, Esq., contra.

Lobingier, J.

Defendant demurs to a petition alleging

"That on or about the 31st day of January 1920 The Belgian Trading Company entered into a contract with the defendant whereby the defendant purchased from The Belgian Trading Company and The Belgian Trading Company sold to the defendant

100 tons Spray Hens Egg Yolk at gold $0.54 per pound net C. I. F. New York, shipment April to June 1920.

75 tons Hens Egg Albumen at gold $1.28 per pound C. I. F. New York, shipment April to July 1920 and a memorandum of said contract was duly made and signed by the said defendant which said memorandum is hereunto annexed and marked "Plaintiff's Exhibit A" and made a part of this petition and said contract was duly confirmed in writing by plaintiff on the 31st day of January 1920 a copy of which said writing is hereunto annexed and marked "Plaintiff's Exhibit B" and made a part of this petition." (Par. 4).

There is no averment it will be observed that the contract itself is set forth in the petition or attached thereto but merely that "a memorandum of said contract" and the confirmation thereof are separately annexed. In other words the petition alleges that the parties "entered into a contract"; that "said contract was duly confirmed in writing by plaintiff"; and that "a memorandum of said contract was duly made and signed" and "is hereunto annexed." It is nowhere alleged that either the memorandum or the confirmation set out the entire terms of the contract and for aught that appears the former may be no more than the memorandum which is required in order to satisfy the Statute of Frauds. The authorities cited by counsel for demurrent to the effect that were a copy of the contract or an instrument containing its entire terms is set forth the Court will not look farther is therefore inapplicable.

It is likewise immaterial for our present purpose whether, as contended by counsel for demurrant, there is a variance between these two exhibits. That might exist and yet the essentials of a contract be supplied from other sources such as the conversation referred to in the second exhibit. So long as the petition does not set out a copy of the contract nor purport to contain its full terms plaintiff would not be precluded from showing other elements than those contained in the two exhibits.

But the petition does aver specifically as we have seen that the parties "entered into a contract" and that averment is admitted by the demurrer. The existence of the contract being thus established the petition clearly states a cause of action and the question as to how the parties arrived at a contract or whether they did so arrive must be left to the proofs.

The demurrer is accordingly over-ruled and defendant is given ten days within which to answer the amended petition.

By the Court,
Charles S. Lobingier,
Judge.

STABBED SAILORS OUT OF DANGER

American Tars Expected To Recover; No More Trouble Looked For

The American sailors stabbed by Japanese during the outbreaks of street fighting in the Hongkew district Sunday night are now believed to be past the danger stage and on the road to recovery.

Since the Sunday disturbances there has been no further trouble in the district and with the additional precautions which have been taken by the naval authorities to prevent the men from visiting the bar-room area in which the battles occurred it is expected that there will be no more clashes.

Students Denounce Renewal Of Anglo-Japanese Alliance

A protest against the renewal of the Anglo-Japanese Alliance was cabled to London by three local organizations, the China National Students' Federation, the Shanghai Students' Union and the National Organisations Union of China, on Monday.

The message was addressed to the British Premier, the Foreign Secretary, Parliament, the London Times and other newspapers. The authors threatened to adopt similar measures as those adopted against Japan if a continuance is affected to infringe on the sovereignty of China.

DEALERS IN RICE WILL BE REQUIRED TO GET LICENSES

New Municipal Council Order Is Aimed At Profiteers And Hoarders

What is believed will prove the most effective move so far launched against food profiteers is a new Municipal Notification requiring licensing of rice dealers that is being announced today and will become effective after July 1.

By the terms of the new regulation all vendors, wholesale and retail, who sell uncooked rice within the limits of the Settlement must obtain licenses from the Municipal Council. Probably most important of the requirements in connection with the new licenses is one which compels all dealers in uncooked rice to keep accurate records of stocks on hand and these are to be open at all times to inspection by the police.

It is required also that the licenses shall not be transferrable, that the premises of dealers shall be kept in a sanitary condition, and that license holders must comply with all future municipal regulations that may be aimed at hoarders and profiteers.

Jap Troops Search Houses Of Russians

(Dalta News Agency)

Vladivostok, May 21.—On the morning of May 21 the Japanese troops occupied the local Russian Military Headquarters in Vladivostok and after requesting all Russian Officers and Soldiers to leave, they made a thorough search for arms, in every place about headquarters. They requisitioned ten rifles, and a heavy box, the contents of which are unknown. After a two hours occupation, the Japanese released all the officers and soldiers, and left headquarters.

When asked by the Russian authorities to give a reason for their actions, the Japanese Chief of Gendarmeries replied that the search was made in order to prevent bloodshed "that could happen | since Japanese | Military Command had exacting formation that anti-government groups were preparing a coup."

The Japanese troops also occupied other government offices and made searches, and they requisitioned arms from the State Defence Police. Finally all the offices were evacuated by the Japanese, and the requisitioned arms returned.

Vaudeville Show Delights Visitors

Program Last Night at Lyceum For Hongkong Cricketers Is Huge Success

Far and away the best vaudeville entertainment that has been offered in Shanghai in many days was the production specially arranged by Messrs. Deeks and Muriel that was given last night at the Lyceum theater for the visiting cricketers from Hongkong.

Every seat in the theater was occupied when the curtain rose for the first number and this, consisting of selected songs by Messrs. S. J. Deeks and G. M. James, proved a forecast of the excellence of the following portions of the program. Mr. G. B. Stormes followed with a number of comic songs which scored a distinct hit. Mr. D. J. Donne in impersonations and Mr. Kortwright and his animated talking dolls called forth rounds of applause.

A wholly noteworthy detail of the program was the appearance of Mrs. Isherwood, who has been away from Shanghai for two years and who sang in a voice that not only recalled pleasant memories but enhances her already well established reputation.

Mr. Wingrove repeated his big success with the seven young ladies who made such a hit in the pantomime of Aladdin as the Light Brigade. The members of the Light Brigade are Mrs. Bickerton and the Misses Limby, Houghton, Radcliffe, Gubbay, Barkus, Berry and Bourke.

One of the gems of the program was the sketch "A Marriage Will Not Take Place" given by Mr. N. L. Leefe, Mr. H. E. Muriel, Mrs. Worcester and Mrs. Alliston. Mrs. Worcester's interpretation of the character Charlotte Bell was altogether delightful. Mr. Reginald Kay's problems in mystery were wholly without solution. Mrs. C. Wingrove and Mr. Glenby did their specialties from 'The Belle of New York' waking fleeting recollections of that excellent A. D. C. production.

What proved one of the big hits of the night was the final number given by Messrs. Silas Brothers and Mr. Zellensky in their musical impersonations.

Upon the close of the program the entire company came forward and sang the National Anthem.

TEN FOUND GUILTY IN PAKHOI ROAD ROBBERY CASES

Three Convicted Of Murder; Others Of Banditry; More Charges Laid

Ten of the twelve Chinese charged in the Mixed Court as a result of the armed robber round-up in Pakhoi Road last month, when two Chinese detectives and one robber were slain and a foreign police officer was wounded, have been found guilty of crimes in the Settlement.

Three of the defendants have been convicted by Assessor Hutchison and Magistrate Loh on the charge of murdering the two Chinese police officials and the rest have been found guilty on armed robbery charges. Seventeen charges in all rest against the various accused.

The man whose case is involved with the bribery charges brought by British Assessor Hutchison has not yet come before the Court for trial but is expected to be brought up today. Three additional charges of attempted murder were brought against three of the defendants yesterday and evidence is yet to be adduced in these instances. The charges are in connection with armed robberies on February 24 and March 26 at shops on Chekiang Road and Boone Road respectively.

When the hearing was resumed yesterday Magistrate Loh made a statement regarding the reports in the Chinese press concerning an anonymous letter to the effect that both Magistrate and Assessor had been approached in an effect to secure the acquittal of the accused Poo Kyung-yoong. He stated that he hoped counsel in the case would aid in bringing to court any proof which might be available concerning the instigators of this move and emphasised once more that the case would be judged strictly on its merits. The Assessor lent his endorsement to the Magistrate's remarks.

City Celebrates British Holiday

members of the Shanghai Club were at home to friends of other nationalities. When the gathering had assembled in the dining room of the club Mr. R. G. Macdonald Chairman, proposed the toast "King and Empire" and after this was given he introduced Admiral Borrett who in a brief address that held the interest of all present told something of the story of the British ship Kinsha which formerly flew his flag as Yangtsze Commander and which has been sold out of service.

Admiral Borrett said that former officers of the Kinsha had felt that some memento of the vessel should be given to the Shanghai Club as token of appreciation of the hospitality that always had been shown to the men of the Navy and he added that it had been decided to present the ship's bell.

After this presentation Mr. Macdonald proposed the Navy and this was received by those present with musical honors and the singing of "For They are Jolly Good Fellows."

The opening event of the afternoon was the interport cricket match against Hongkong which drew an interested throng of onlookers. In the latter part of the afternoon Lady Fraser was at home at the British Consulate to members of the British Women's Association and to members of the United Services Association. A most enjoyable feature of the garden party was the singing of old English songs by boys of the Cathedral school.

In the evening a dinner by the British Flying Corps was held at the Shanghai Club and a Lyceum theater performance specially arranged in honor of the visiting cricketers from Hongkong.

Communists Rule New Moscow Soviet

(Rosta News Agency)

Moscow, May 10.—The first session of the new Moscow Soviet was held on the 13th instant. The Soviet is composed of two thousand and fifteen deputies of whom seventy-three percent are Communists, twenty-five percent are Non-Partisan workers and employees and about two percent belong to the opposition. The opposition is sub-divided as follows: 12 Menshaviks, 6 Left Social-Revolutionaries, 1 Tchernovian Revolutionary, 4 Social-Revolutionaries and 5 Anarchists.

The Trud observes that this composition assures the workability of the Soviet, in which there will be less parliamentary debates but more real work. Interests of the toiling masses always will occupy first place.

Preparatory to the opening of the Soviet, the Communist deputies held a conference, Mr. Kamenev presiding. He outlined in his introductory address the Communist program for the opening of the Soviet. The program included reports on external and internal situations of the Republic, food situation in Moscow, measures for combating diseases, and supplementary election of Non-Partisan deputies to the executive Committee.

The Conference was attended by Mr. Sakharov, representing the Non-Partisans, who declared in his speech that they were ready and willing to co-operate with the Communist majority, and asked for a sufficient representation on the Executive Committee. Complying with his request, the conference consented to the Non-Partisans seventeen places on the Committee.

CHINA PICKS 124 ATHLETES FOR OLYMPICS

Best Team In History To Represent This Country At Games

JAPANESE HERE

Men On Yawata Maru Get Hearty Welcome On Arrival

ONE hundred and twenty-four men from all parts of the country, the best who could be secured, have been chosen to wear the colors of China in the Far Eastern championships which start here on Monday. The Chinese representation will be the strongest in history and in every department of athletics except baseball the Chinese will be as strong as the Filipinos and Japanese.

The Japaness athletes arrived here yesterday morning on the Yawata Maru and were greeted at the dock by representatives of the Japanese Consulate-General local Japanese Associations and by local Chinese officials from the Bureau of Foreign Affairs.

The Philippines delegation also arrived but they were not welcomed because the Bustamente the cableship bringing the athletes from Manila, was not expected to reach port until late yesterday afternoon or early today. The Japanese are quartered in hotels about the city but the Filipinos will live aboard ship.

Both delegations reported excellent trips but the Filipinos suffered from the cold.

JAPS FIRST TO PRACTICE

Japanese tennis players were first to get into action, working on the M. B. K. courts and shortly afterwards the track and field men and baseball men unlimbered at the Hongkew Park track. Today the Filipinos will be out for a short workout but nothing strenuous will be attempted until the men get rid of sea legs. The entire delegation was about the city in ricshas yesterday afternoon and about 50 saw a little of the interport cricket game at the Race Course.

While the Filipinos were attempting to find a buoy the Japanese were guests at a reception at the N.Y.K. building. The reason for this is that the China Contest Committee was not advised as to the time of arrival of the group from Manila and as a result they came unwelcomed because they were unheralded. As soon as the belated wireless was received Dr. John H. Gray got in touch with the Harbor Master and did everything he could.

At the reception held for the Japanese in the N.Y.K. Building welcome was extended by Chairman Tanabe of the Shangha Japanese Athletic Association and Dr. Kishi, who heads the Nipponese delegation, responded. Dr Kishi and the other officials accompanying the athletes are stopping at the Astor House.

Japan's contest committee includes several distinguished athletes. The chairman is Dr. J Kano, representative at the International Olympic Games. Other members are Dr. S. Kishi, Mr Chi. Takedo, Dr. T. Kinoshita Mr. K. Hibino, an ex-Parliamentarian, Mr. S. Kanechika, Mr. Y Kamada, Prof. G. Noguchi, Mr Y. Mine, Prof. S. Kanaguri, the ex-Marathon runner, Mr. T. Gow and Mr. I. Sawada, the noted Track star. Tonight the Japanese press will entertain the delegation at dinner at the Japanese club.

The Japanese delegation consists of 90 contestants, 13 members of the contest committee four coaches and Mr. Frank Brown, honorary advisor to the Japan Amateur Athletic Association and director of the National Committee, Y.M.C.A. of Tokio and Mr. W. Scott Ryan, physical director of the Tokio Y.M.C.A.

The committee in charge of the games yesterday decided to hold the prize distribution at the Astor House on Saturday, June 4, at 8 o'clock. A parade of the winners will precede the distribution. It will probably start at the Palace Hotel. Arrangements have been made so that those who choose to remain after the prize distribution may dance at the usual Saturday night ball. Reservations must be booked ahead of time.

Yesterday, the committee received a massive silver loving cup presented by the Nanyang Brothers Tobacco Company, Ltd. The directors of the company stated that the committee may present

SHANGHAI PLAYS HURON MARINES TODAY AT 5 P.M.

Leathernecks Out With Star Lineup Expect To Beat Civilians

WEAVER WILL PITCH

Dunsmore, Crack First Baseman Breaks Collar Bone In Yesterday's Practice

AT five o'clock this afternoon the Shanghai civilian baseball nine and the Marine Corps team from the Flagship Huron will meet in what ought to be a first class exhibition of the American National game. The Marine men have some ball tossers that belong to the regulars, have been out at the Race Course going through their little drill and are shaped into playing condition.

An accident to the Marines first baseman, Dunsmore, during practice yesterday puts him out of the game for several weeks. He was chasing a ball in infield workout, collided with the right-fielder, and came out of it with a broken collar bone. The Marines are a bit gloomy over the loss of Dunsmore. They will doubtless use Roberts, the first sacker on the regular Huron nine.

The Marines will undoubtedly pitch Lieut. Johnson's star southpaw, Weaver. He is the man that outpitched Hopkins in last Sunday's struggle which resulted so disastrously for Shanghai. If he works he will give the Marines the pitching advantage, for Shanghai's throwers all are convalescent from too much early season ambition and perhaps will have to work in relays.

WILHOIT NOT TO PLAY

Capt. Wilhoit of the landlubbers will not work today. He will be "occupied in business." Maloney doubtless will cover first and might even direct the play. Woods or Ladd will work at second. Bills at short and Crow perhaps at third. The outfield is in doubt. S. F. Smith who has made so good in all around play may drop out to give a "youngster" a chance to show. And the other gardens, too, may see new faces.

The selection for the pitchers' box will be a problem for the captain to solve. Hopkins, Gallop, Terry and Devine all are off condition. It may be that Moody, who showed some speedy little curves at yesterday's practice, will be given his chance in the box. Roeser, Bristow, Hoag and C. J. Smith are available to catch.

Nineteen Shanghai men were out at practice yesterday afternoon. Only Bills, Denison and Griffiths failed to show. Ladd handled short in Bills' place, and he handled it nicely. He will undoubtedly work his way into a regular place on the team before long. Roeser had the big mit for the first half when Wilhoit put Bristow in. The latter showed lots of pep. Hoag was working out the invalid twirlers.

HOPE TO PLAY FILIPINOS

Matchmaker Major Ross is striving his utmost to fill the two open dates in the local's schedule, May 29 and 30. He hopes with the arrival yesterday of the Filipino Olympic aggregation that they will step in for a little work-out game or two. He put an invitation to the manager of the Japanese Olympic nine yesterday for a game next Sunday, but the latter replied that he was "very sorry" it could not be considered.

The Flagship Huron, it was learned yesterday, sails from Shanghai June 10, so that three games of the series with that team will have to be crowded into the time between June 5 and 9. It is thought that it will not be possible to play any of this series during the Olympic games May 30 to June 4. It will mean perhaps that the series will be finished out May 28, June 5 and 8, and if a fifth game is needed to decide the series, this will be played on June 9.

The departure of the Huron on June 10 and the taking away of its excellent baseball talent will be compensated for by the arrival in Shanghai June 9 or 10 of the destroyer flotilla of 12 vessels, which is reported as due out of Manila June 6. This flotilla, with its 1,500 men should have four or five classy baseball teams and should provide the local fans with the article of baseball that they are demanding.

Leading French Pioneer Boxing Promoter Is Dead

Paris, March 3.—Theodore Vienne, the best known boxing promoter in France and one of the pioneers in the introduction of gloved fisticuffs in Paris, died recently at the age of 57.

Vienne was the owner of the Ferris Wheel and as early as 1906 organised boxing matches in the large hall used by holiday makers on Sundays as a dance floor. He was the first promoter to give Carpentier an opportunity to fight. When the latter was 12 years of age he paid the future champion of Europe 25 francs for six rounds of boxing.

He promoted the Joe Jeannette-Sam McVey, Carpentier-Joe Jeannette, Johnson-Moran and Carpentier-Billy Papke fights.

PHILIPPINE TEAM HAS FINE TRIP; MEN ABOARD SHIP

Islands Delegation Arrives From Manila On Cableship To Be Their Headquarters

OSIAS ISSUES STATEMENT

Philippine Government Man Says Athletes Are In Excellent Shape For Games

THE Philippine delegation to the Far Eastern Games, composed of 139 athletes with their coaches and trainers, arrived in Shanghai yesterday morning on board the Philippine Government cableship Bustamante which has been specially chartered for the purpose. The athletes were very fortunate in encountering practically no rough seas during their four days trip. Because of the trained officials accompanying the teams, the athletes' comfort on the ship was attended to with a great degree of efficiency throughout the sea voyage.

No previous Philippine delegation competing away from home has been accompanied by so many trained officials and coaches. Camilo Osias, Assistant Director of Education and secretary-treasurer of the Philippine Amateur Athletic Federation, is the executive head of the delegation, having been designated by the Philippine Government as its official representative of the Games.

Mr. Osias is assisted by Dr. Regino R. Ylanan and R. M. Hall, both members of the Philippines executive committee. Dr. Ylanan is also the medical officer and adviser of the entire delegation. Fred O. England, playground director of the city of Manila, is business manager of the trip. Prof. Francisco Benitez represents the University of the Philippines. H. E. S. Thomas is head coach of the track and field team with G. K. Berden as his assistant. Rev. George W. Dunlap is coach of the baseball team while Capt. H. J. Parker, U. S. A., handles the swimming team. Tirso Garcia is in charge of the volleyball squad and Ignacio de Icaza is managing the basketball aggregation. Joaquin Lopez is looking after the soccer team and J. P. Buensuceso is manager of the tennis aggregation. Lt. Murray, U. S. A., is moral and emergency officer and Antonio H. Escoda is publicity man and official scorer. E. C. Arellano is official photographer, Jose de Jesus is property officer and Juan Casuga is in charge of accounts and finances. Charles Brantigan is first aid man.

HAVE GOOD COACHES

The Philippine Amateur Athletic Federation has spared no effort in trying to secure the service of the best men available to train the athletes. The men selected to coach the different teams all have years of experience in their special lines behind them.

H. E. S. Thomas, head coach of the track and field squad, has had over 20 years experience handling track and field men both in the Philippines and in America. Mr. Thomas was a crack athlete in his college days, his favorite events being the long runs from 440 yards up. Mr. Thomas also coached the Philippine team that won the track and field championship at the Far Eastern Games in Manila in 1919.

Dr. George W. Dunlap, coach of the baseball team, has 13 years of coaching experience behind him,

SHANGHAI HAS 309 RUNS FOR FOUR WICKETS

Barrett, Ollerdessen And Rumjahn Stars Of First Day

RESUME TODAY

Hongkong Fielders Are Remarkable; Locals Shine At Bat

By "WHISTLE"

CAPT. Barrett commenced a most successful afternoon's cricket by winning the toss. The wicket being in fine condition he elected to bat first, Ollerdessen and Deeks opening the ball.

The Hongkong attack was entrusted to Capt. P. H. Davies, their fast bowler and E. B. Reid.

The game opened slowly, both bowlers were putting down good stuff and neither batsman was able to take liberties. Davies put down a couple of wides in his 3rd over, but they were sandwiched in between good balls.

Several chances of short runs were lost early on, and Ollerdessen escaped being run out twice in one over.

Then Deeks woke up to his chances and they began to sneak runs, in fact all runs were coming singly at this stage; the Hongkong fielding was super excellent and they passed nothing. After 35 mins. play Deeks got the first 2 by a leg glance, and Ollerdessen copied his example.

With the score at 25 Deeks was l.b.w. to Reid and retired with 9 to his credit. He never seemed quite at home with the bowling and left before he could play himself in.

BARRETT BEGINS SCORING

Barrett joined Ollerdessen and the partnership took the score to 121. Both players began steadily, but it was not long before Barrett began to open out, scoring the first 4 of the match, 40 mins. from the start.

With the score at 42 Webster relieved Reid, and started bowling beautifully. His first 4 overs produced 2 maidens and 2 runs, then Ollerdessen hit him for a 4 and a 3 and Barrett followed with a 2, the latter player then skied him, from a rising ball, behind long off, the ball dropping a yard beyond him.

The pair then settled down to play fine cricket hitting frequent fours, mostly to leg.

At 99 F. H. Farthing relieved Davies and the century was reached at 4 p.m.

The score reaching 121 Ollerdessen was finely caught by Rumjahn off Webster for 62. His innings was beautiful to watch, there were no chances and his cutting was clean and hard, every run being played for.

Quayle then appeared and the scoring started again, Barrett getting 4 fours and a six in quick succession.

At 143 Reid relieved Webster much to Quayle's satisfaction, as he knocked 2 fours off his first over and then cut Farthing to the boundary with one of the prettiest strokes of the match, the latter bowler gave place to Davies at 178, but nothing further happened before 5 p.m. when there was a 10 min. interval for the unveiling of the Cricket Club War memorial.

On resumption, Barrett faced Reid and put up an easy one which fell short of point. Quayle followed by cutting Davies beautifully through the slips for 4, but at 194, letting drive for the boundary, he was caught in the long field by Bagnall.

His score was 28 and the feature of his play were his cuts which were perfectly timed.

Muriel joined Barrett and after a few balls brought the score to 200, and the regulation new ball appeared, which Barrett proceeded to send to leg with a glance for 2, completing his century after 2½ hours' play.

At 220 Farthing came on in place of Reid at the Pavilion end, but Muriel soon got the hang of his bowling, hitting a four and a three off his 12th over and 2 fours off his 13th.

At 251 Sayer succeeded Farthing and Muriel hit his first ball to leg for 4.

Barrett had been resting for a while but he suddenly woke up with a six and a two followed by a three and a four next over. The 4th wicket fell at 284, when Sayer got Muriel l.b.w. for 49. Muriel had been at home from the start and played forceful cricket, giving Barrett a rest; he had very hard luck in missing his 50.

Leach succeeded and broke his duck by driving Sayer hard for 1. The latter bowler was getting roughly handled at this stage, Barrett knocking 2 successive sixes and a one, and Leach a three and a one, 17 in one over.

At 305 Webster relieved Davies at the top end but Leach took a couple of twos off his first 2 balls. Nothing further occurred and when stumps were drawn at 6:20, the score stood at 4 for 309. Capt. Barrett and Leach being not out 133 and 10 respectively. Mr. J. W. Cameron umpired for Shanghai and Mr. E. W. Hamilton for Hongkong.

Olympic Pickups

FIVE Japanese athletes arrived on the Fukuken Maru from Foochow. They come from Formosa.

IT is expected that a big crowd will watch the South China football team against a combined St. John's Nanyang team this afternoon. The game will be at Nanyang and is set for 4:30 o'clock.

Local stars are entered in the open tennis championships to be held in connection with the Olympics. Toussaint, Roberts, Carnavarro and others are in.

IF the China Contest Committee had known that the Filipinos were arriving early yesterday, a deputation would have been at buoy number nine to extend a welcome. As it was they eased in without sounding a horn.

Pablo Belbonte, who defeated Waseda University three years ago when the Japanese visited Manila, is the leading hurler on the Philippines team. He will pitch against the Japanese in the Far Easterns.

IF rain doesn't interfere with the sched ule, athletic followers are due for a great week. The Interport cricketers sort of whetted the athletic appetite yesterday and there will be baseball Saturday and Sunday.

NO games will be played by the Japanese baseball team before the Far Easterns start. The Nipponese will work out daily at Hongkew as will the track and field men. Arrangements are being made for basketball and football practice grounds for both visiting teams.

OUR Municipal Council has given the city band to play Tuesday and Friday afternoon. The Japanese Marine Band is to play Wednesday and Saturday with the Huron Band playing the athletes in on Monday and Thursday.

SOME of the Filipinos suffered from the cold on the trip up and last night was pretty cool for the lads from the tropics.

HUSKY, remarkably well built men in the pink of condition make up Japan's delegation while the Filipinos are fine looking youngsters, too. Both teams believe that the honors will be divided between them and neither figures China much of a factor.

EVERY Filipino insisted on taking a ricsha ride yesterday and each insisted on calling the vehicle a carromata and telling the coolie to "mano" and "silla."

RECORDS in entries, crowds and performances should be the rule for the games for all three countries are strong, China being expected to shine particularly brightly in the track and field.

EVEN Formosa is represented in the Japanese delegations.

Water Polo Game On This Afternoon

having started in the United States as coach of a college team in 1907. Prior to this he played professional ball for three years, his favorite position being behind the bat. While playing professional ball Dr. Dunlap had a chance to go to the Pittsburg Nationals but did not care to take it. Dr. Dunlap is now doing missionary work in the southern islands of the Philippines but he also finds time to coach a provincial team. He has coached the Cebu High School team for six years and during that time he has won five championships of the Philippine Islands.

To Capt. H. J. Parker, U. S. A., belongs the distinction of having placed swimming on the same level that other sports, such as baseball, track and field, basketball and tennis, occupy in the Philippine Islands. Prior to his arrival in Manila swimming was given very little importance there and this was apparent in the poor showing the Philippine swimming team generally made in the Far Eastern Games. Capt. Parker's advent, however, has wrought quite a change. Himself a swimmer of note in his college days, Capt. Parker shortly after his arrival in Manila proceeded to revolutionise swimming there.

The Philippine Swimming League, organised through his initiative and composed of the different clubs, schools and other organisations in and around Manila, did much to awaken interest in the sport and the ultimate result of that League is the formation of a Philippine swimming team which will compete in the Games here. Capt. Parker comes from the University of Pennsylvania where he also took active part in track and football.

YLANAN FORMER STAR

Dr. Regino Ylanan, medical officer of the delegation and advisory coach in soccer, baseball and volleyball, is a graduate of the University of the Philippines and of the International Y.M.C.A. College in Springfield, Massachusetts. Dr. Ylanan is one of the best all-round athletes produced by the Philippines. Up to shortly before his graduation from the College of Medicine, University of the Philippines, he took active part in the Far Eastern Games, both in baseball and in track and field, and he still holds the record in the 12-pound shot. After his graduation from the University of the Philippines Dr. Ylanan went to Springfield from which he graduated a year ago. He is at present physical director of the University of the Philippines.

R. M. Hall, member of the Philippines executive committee and advisory coach in tennis, basketball and swimming, is also a graduate of the International Y.M.C.A. College at Springfield, Massachusetts. He has been in "Y" work for almost 20 years. For 20 months during the world war he saw service overseas, serving both in France and in Germany. While in college Mr. Hall made the football and soccer teams, being a member of the college soccer squad that met and defeated the teams from Coloumbia, Harvard, Princeton and Yale. Mr. Hall is physical director of the American-European Y.M.C.A. in Manila.

G. K. Berden, assistant coach in track, was a prominent athlete in his college days, both at the George Washington University and at Ferris Institute, Michigan.

Tirso Garcia, in charge of the volleyball squad, is one of the very few Filipinos who can play practically all of the athletic games known in the Philippine Islands and play them well. He is a veteran volleyball and basketball player having made the Philippine Olympic teams in both.

Joaquin Lopez is a soccer player of the first water and is one of the oldest in the game in Manila.

OSIAS MAKES STATEMENT

Mr. Osias gave out the following statement to newspaper men last night:

"It is a little early to make a statement as to what we expect to do or what events we expect to win during the meet. We believe that results will be more convincing than pre-meet words. If we don't open our mouths too wide we will not have so far to close them.

"We all realise that a contest of this kind is not won with the mouth but with the brain and brawn. However, this we can assure everyone ,that we expect to do our best to surpass past performances of Filipino athletes. So far as condition is concerned, the athletes who will represent the Philippines in this meet are in better shape than any previous delegation has been in prior to competing in foreign soil.

"The Philippine government has been very generous in the matter of providing funds for the training and the equipping of the present group of athletes. The leading Filipino statesmen are realising more and more the value of athletics as a legitimate national undertaking, as an asset in developing good citizenship and in promoting international good will and understanding through the agency of these Far Eastern Games.

"We are looking forward to a very successful meet. We have had advance reports in Manila of the good work the Contest Committe, under the leadership of Dr. J. H Gray, has been doing in preparing for this meet. We expect to do everything in our power to co-operate with the officials in charge of the meet to make the coming week of historical contests worthy of the efforts put forth by all concerned.

"We wish to give assurance of full co-operation in the observance of good sportsmanship and clean athletics."

FOOTBALL TODAY

The Hongkong Chinese Football Team will play the combined eleven of St. John's University and Nanyang College this afternoon at 4:30 o'clock on the Nanyang College Ground.

The Hongkong Chinese football team is representing China in the Far Eastern Games at association football and the above game is in the nature of a practice game. Considering the strength of the opposing teams, a very good test match should result .

Tientsin Cricket Club Vote To Move Playing Grounds

The Tientsin Cricket Club at its annual general meeting held in the northern city Friday evening decided to move its playing grounds from the Recreation Club to the Race Course. The new ground is being levelled and it is hoped that play may begin within two weeks time.

Captain Alabaster and Vice-Captain Pennell were re-elected for the new season; Mr. Puckle was chosen Secretary-Treasurer to succeed Mr. Crawfurd, and the following members were elected to the new Committee: Messrs. Crawfurd, Taylor, Lawless, Ray and Major Arden.

Mr. Alabaster announced an intention of giving silver cups for the best batting and best bowling averages of the season.

An Announcement Of A Rich Collection Of Curios For Sale

A rich collection of curios is open for exhibition in my residence. It contains more than two hundred articles, of which the most antique Bronzes are ascertained to range from Shang and Chow Dynasties to that of the Two Hans, and the porcelains from Peh Soong to the beginning of the Tsin Dynasty. They are all well preserved pieces, real and fine. Regarding the genuineness, it has been verfied either by authentic ancient books or by inscriptions as well as initials thereon. None of them is questionable as to its age, designs, markings, etc.

In addition to the Bronzes and Porcelains, there are also wide varieties of valuable Carvings in wood, bamboo, and precious stones, also natural Fossils, Inter-Stones, Tanshi Stones, and Chrysanthemum Stones, etc. Most of these articles are magificent masterpieces of ancient fine art as identified in themselves, and already encased in beautiful artistic casing so as to facilitate transportation at any time.

Due to the successive disturbances in the province, and the recent irregular financial conditions in general, the proprietors of this collection are willing to offer their highly esteemed treasure for cash. Now I take the liberty to introduce the same collection to any Chinese or foreign connoisseur who is prepared to take same over at a favorable price.

Those interested in the matter of inspection are requested to apply to Chen Wan Shian Tan, No. 4 Shu Day Tze Kow, Changsha, Hunan, by notifying me in advance, so that I will have the honor of welcoming their esteemed visits at a specified time.

Exchange Fluctuations

Asia Banking Corporation

May 24, 1921

Spot bar silver was up 5/8d. and forward 3/8d. in London yesterday.

The New York price advanced to 59⅛ cents and the London-New York cross rate declined to 395¾.

The official rates here today were unchanged from yesterday with the exception of the Gold Dollar rate which was dropped to 63.

The market throughout the day was firm, there being sellers of Sterling at rates varying between 3/3 and 3/3½. At the opening business was done at 3/3 and just before tiffin as high as 3/3½ was done. However, the market eased off slightly during the afternoon during which there were at all times good buyers of Sterling at 3/3½ and of Gold Dollars at 65½.

The rise in silver in London yesterday is attributed to small buying by India accompanied by bear covering. It hardly seems likely, therefore, that this rise will be continued.

No information has come to hand regarding the heavy fall in the London-New York cross rate but no doubt it is to be attributed to the disturbed European conditions.

Anglo-American Trade Relations

(New York Times)

The figures of our foreign trade for March are a rude and wholesome surprise, contradicting the inference from former figures that our credits were being maintained although our totals were shrinking. Now it appears that in March our credits on the visible movement were almost wiped out. On the merchandise movement the excess of exports was only $132,000,000, showing the fourth successive decline since December's excess of $454,230,000. But $77,000,000 more was paid in gold, leaving a pitiful remnant of $55,000,000. The facts are not so bad as that, for the world is running into our debt for services and credits to a total which the best informed can only guess at. Even so, our accounts with the world are approaching a balance faster than had been understood.

We are awakened from our illusion that the world of trade lay at our feet, and learn that our competitors are making up their handicap amazingly. England's trade is approaching a balance even more swiftly than our own. In March each item of England's foreign trade decreased, the upshot being that the unfavorable balance, the excess of imports, decreased £27,856,777 compared with last year, and stands at £18,060,000 against £45,916,777 last year. When England balances her trade the experts will have difficulty in determining the preference between the pound and the dollar for command of the world's trade. It is better that neither should dominate, and there is plenty for both to do. The English are characteristically traders, as we are characteristically producers. England has advantages of experience and world connections for distribution, as we have advantages for production. The two nations are more complementary than competitive. Each needs the services of the other, and each will profit through the other's profit. The world has learned that there are no profits in the adversity of any, even of Germany. Still less is there profit for the United States in any British depression.

For example, some will think that we profit by imports of gold and a rising Federal Reserve ratio. Others, perhaps, will think that we would profit more if we left the basis of credit in the hands of those who have the courage and knowledge to use it to better advantage than ourselves. By taking gold in payment for goods we dispose only of equal quantities of goods. If those who send us the gold had the use of it they could take several times the quantities of goods which now we are disposing of in shrinking amounts. The vital thing for us now is to find markets for our products. The more we sold of our surplus the more we could buy in satisfaction of our wants, either for individual consumption of what we do not produce or for factory consumption in the production of what the world wants. Whatever the explanation, the fact is that our foreign trade efforts are not brilliantly successful. We have the capital, but we are not using it with best results. Eventually we may be able to manage our foreign trade for ourselves. At present there are appearances that we would profit more by co-operating with others instead of trying to play a lone hand, even though we hold so many trumps.

Empire Day, celebrated yesterday by all British people, and very warmly endorsed by many friends who were not British, calls to mind a saying of the American Ambassador to London —recently retired, who said:

"What good thing could our two nations seek apart which they would not find in larger measure if they pursued it side by side?"

Below Mr. Alfred Cooper, a correspondent to one of the prominent London weeklies discusses the vitally important question thus raised:

The future of civilisation, of an ordered, progressive, happy evolution of society, is in the keeping of the English-speaking peoples. Of these there are on the earth, at the present moment, something in the neighborhood of 200,000,000; and this number, if the precedents of the two half-centuries immediately past are followed, will have be come something like 400,000,000 in 1971.

This huge aggregate of folk who "speak the tongue that Shakespeare spake"—or something approximating thereto, at least—will not be confined to one corner of the earth like the congested populations of China and India, but will form six mighty nations, each powerful and populous, in several far-separated quarters of the globe.

The six nations of the English-speaking folk will be the British Isles, the United States of America, the Dominion of Canada, the Union of South Africa, the Commonwealth of Australia, and the Dominion of New Zealand, and half the population—possibly more than half—of this great congeries of kindred peoples will reside betwixt the latitude of the Gulf of St. Lawrence and the latitude of the Mouth of the Mississippi, in that wonderful Republic we sometimes call "the States" and sometimes simply "America."

FROM ONE MOTHERLAND

Now, it is a fact of first-class importance and vast significance that the last-named is the only member of the original firm which has dissolved partnership. Nearly 150 years ago now, Britain and her intensely loyal colonies in America differed, then quarrelled, then fought, then parted, and that political cleavage has continued to this day.

It is an interesting and not unprofitable speculation as to what might have happened, and what might not have happened in the world, had Britain never attempted the impossible task of coercing America, and had America grown up under the old flag, self-governed and independent in all but affectionate adherence to the co-operative solidarity of the Empire, like Australia or Canada today.

Nothing contributed to the final and complete triumph of the Allies in the late war so greatly as this solidarity exhibited by the far-flung and loosely-attached members of the British Brotherhood of Nations. Even men like Botha and Smuts, who had fought against us a dozen years earlier, fought as valiantly on our side. Within a week of the declaration of war, every colony and dependency of Britain had declared its unflinching and unhesitating adherence to the old flag.

WHEN THE EMPIRE SPOKE

Is it too much to suppose that the 100,000,000 of the greatest colony of all, the colony founded by the "Pilgrims" in New England, and by Raleigh in Virginia, would have hesitated any longer than the Anzacs and the Canadians did? That would have meant the shortening of the war by three years at least—if there had been a war. But can anyone believe there could have been a war, had Britain and America been one nation of the most inventive, keenest-witted, most enterprising, most law-abiding people extant?

We might go farther and say that had Britain and America held together, the Franco-Prussian War, the dragons' teeth sown in 1871 which produced the terrible harvest of devastation, misery, and unrest of these latter days, the tap-root of a noxious weed which threatens to ruin the fair garden of ordered progress, would never probably have happened.

Well, there is nothing quite so futile as crying over spilt milk. "What's done's done and can't be undone," is a true saying, which may be profoundly misunderstood. If it means to you and to me that the past cannot be improved upon, that the miasmic shadow of the past must blight the present, that the follies and mistakes of yesterday must make of today a failure and a "fizzle," then such a saying is hateful and baneful to the last degree.

If yesterday was wrong, may not today be right? If we have been tied to an ancient stumbling stone, for heaven's sake let us cut ourselves loose, that we may continue our journey to the fair land of amity, mutual respect, and kindly co-operation.

What ground have we for supposing that this Peace will be more lasting than any other? None at all, absolutely none; unless America and Britain say it shall be. That Britain is a peacefully inclined nation is proved by the fact that, possessed of a predominant Navy for a hundred years, mistress of all the seas, her outposts in every continent, her agents at every corner on the great world roads, she has never used her power aggressively. Rather has she used it to guard and police those very highways down which she might have sailed to world dominions.

THE UNSEEN BARRIER

That America is peacefully minded is shown by the most amazing spectacle in the history of mankind upon the earth. There is an invisible line drawn across a continent with an invisible pen.

People speak of this as the boundary line between Canada and the United States. You might cross it in a thousand places and never know. It runs across river and mountains, and takes no head of their strategic importance. A blade of grass divides two mighty countries, the one stretching to the northern pole, the other to the source of the Gulf Stream.

Not a gun, not a fort, not a wire entanglement even, for three thousand miles and more betwixt Pacific and Atlantic. Not a gunboat, not a submarine, not a floating mine in Superior, Michigan, Erie! That is the fruit of mutual trust, respect, and community of interests finding their best realisation in peace, amity, and brotherhood.

This state of affairs is possible because it is based on good will, on a strong abhorrence of war and all that war means. Given hatred, and the highest mountains, the deepest rivers, the widest oceans even, cannot form an effective defensive boundary. Given love and good sense, a blade of grass or a chalk-mark suffices.

WITH THE SAME IDEALS

Cannot we have the same splendid scorn of defences betwixt the Mother Country and her big grown-up son, the U.S.A.? Why, the very bond of a common language and literature could not allow the two peoples ever really to part, whatever the quidnuncs and pessimists may say. From Atlantic to Pacific, America speaks the language Milton ennobled in his celestial epic, in which Bunyan told of life and death and immortality. Shakespeare is a common heritage; he belongs as much to America as to us.

The literature of the one is the literature of the other. Whitman and Burns are the twin poets of triumphant democracy. Philadelphia and Manchester read the same poets, the same great essayists and historians, the same classic novelists. Their citizens can sit side by side at the same dinner-table, and talk as easily, and find as many subjects in common, as if they lived in the same street of the same town.

America's ideals of civilisation are identical with our own. They are summed up in Wordsworth's great phrase: "Pure religion breathing household laws." America believes in the politics of the heart; Britain believes the same. There are hooligans on both sides of the herring-pond. They would make a hell of heaven if they could ever squeeze through the pearly gates. They would trench and fortify Mount Zion, and hew down the Tree of Life for a barricade.

If the great sane masses of Britain and America let these wreckers ruin the fair prospect of a permanent peace, for ever holding back the tides of war, like a mighty breakwater which the storm of an English-speaking quarrel can alone obliterate, then my hope for the world, and the great future of Democracy, withers and dies.

New Sort Of War Hero

Charles L. Preston's Sacrifice In Hunting Russian Platinum Needed By American Army

BY WILLIAM L. CHENERY
(New York Times)

This is the story of one of the unknown American heroes of the World War. On the surface there was no more splendor in his career than that which attaches to the ordinary trader, but actually he carried out brilliantly and with fine courage an extraordinarily difficult undertaking which during 1918 seemed to be highly important in the winning of the final victory.

The record of this by-adventure of the supreme adventure of our civilisation is buried somewhere in the archives of the departments at Washington. The War Department knows something of it, and the Navy Department and the Department of Commerce and the present possessors of the papers of the War Industries Board all have their share of the facts. But the hero's story is known also to two men who are willing to tell it. One of them is William C. Redfield, ex-Secretary of Commerce, and the other is B. S. Cutler, who was a division chief under Secretary Redfield and is now in business in New York.

Victory demanded imperiously many things in addition to untold human sacrifice. Some of these things were rare and hard to obtain. Among them was platinum. This precious metal was wanted for the contact points of airplane engines and of Liberty motors, and for certain other purposes essential in the making of war. Russia was, and is, the great source of platinum, but by the time the United States was well into the war Russia's sucessive revolutions had begun to lock the doors to outside commerce.

None the less platinum seemed essential. The United States, through the Department of Commerce, made two distinct efforts to bring the precious white metal out of Russia. The first was a prelude to the work of the man whose adventures and whose sacrifice are the occasion of this narrative. What happened in the first instance, however, so closely conditioned the attempt which was to follow that it is prerequisite to understanding the story.

STARTING PLATINUM SEARCH

Mr. Cutler, to whom was delegated the duty of buying platinum for the War Department through an arrangement between the then Secretaries Baker and Redfied, imagined that despite the Bolshevist revolution bankers and others in European Russia had come into the possession of large quantities of the metal. It was impossible, however, at the time openly to attempt to buy platinum from such men because the mere information of the existence of the metal would have invited confiscation by the Moscow Government. Accordingly, arrangements were made with two international adventurers and with a well known Russian business man who was willing to take part in the affair because it appeared to offer him a way of escape from Bolshevism.

The Department of Commerce made an oral contract with these three men to buy platinum at $105 an ounce, a price $10 above the old quotation in the United States, but $10 below the figure which then obtained.

By sundry methods these men obtained 90,000 ounces. To them was given the incentive of a relatively good price because of the grave physical risks involved in the deal. They might at any time have been shot, and if caught they would certainly have been imprisoned. Much of the platinum they got in Moscow, the larger quantities through former bankers. Then began a long and arduous trip across European Russia and through Siberia. The three men traveled together; yet they often pretended not to know each other. At times the metal was concealed in boxes of bread. Often the packages were opened by guards and inspectors. Food was even then scarce enough in Russia to make men fight to retain what they had. Little surprise was evinced by the inspectors, therefore, when the adventurers resented interference with their bread boxes.

Often the travelers were compelled to stop for days in out-of-way places in Siberia. They knew that if they appeared to be in a hurry they would be arrested as suspicious characters. So they moved and rested and moved on again. Finally they reached Vladivostok, and the platinum, representing a fortune of large size, was shipped to New York. By the time it arrived at the express station in this city, a difference of opinion concerning the proper price to pay for platinum had developed in Washington. The War Industries Board ruled that the Department of Commerce price was too high. While the controversy was raging, the War Department commandered the platinum, and the quarrel over the price was sent to the courts.

ENTER YOUNG PRESTON

There it remained. One important result followed. The former source of supply was cut off. The adventurers and the speculators in Russia would no longer deal with the United States. The oral contract had been broken and they were no longer interested. But the army and the navy still needed platinum and Russia seemed to be the most promising market.

Officials of the Department of Commerce discussed the situation with a young American, Charles L. Preston, who had lived in Riga for several years. Mr. Preston had married a Russian woman. As the Russian agent of American shoe manufacturers he had traveled much. He was young—just under 33—and he had a sense of adventure.

Preston expressed the belief that the mines in the Ural Mountains had been productive long after the fall of the Czar and that platinum was to be had in that region. He also said that miners and soldiers and farmers in the country about the mines probably had small accumulations of the metal. He volunteered to attempt to buy what he could from such people. He was warned of the controversy over the price and was told he must not go above the figure then approved by the War Industries Board.

In such circumstances he started out from Vladivostok. The railroad service had broken down and after weeks of futile effort he was convinced that his attempt was in vain. In desperation he went to Tokio and tried to enlist the aid of some of his Japanese friends. That effort also was

THE CHINESE TELEGRAPHS

Editor, The China Press

Dear Sir: There is no doubt that you have troubles enough of your own without having the burden of other people's added. What comes below is not expected to do any good for the age of miracles is supposed to have passed. You are good enough to supply an editorial column for the benefit of those who don't care to use strong language yet feel like using violence now and then.

I wonder if anyone in Shanghai can explain the advantage of the Chinese Telegraph Administration to any but the Administration. It's bad enough to have to pay a squeeze to the incompetent clown who comes with the message and is in no way responsible for the service (or lack of it) rendered but can any one give any reasonable explanation why a telegram written one morning should be received twenty-four hours later than a letter posted after the telegram is sent?

This is not an isolated case. I know of one other in the last two weeks in this place and know of two other telegrams sent to Hangchow which were never heard from. Apparently, in this topsy-turvey land where most things go by law of opposites, the mail and the telegraph are governed by the same rule.

My experience with the Chinese Postal Administration has been such as to lead me to compare it favorably with that of Western countries but I must say that what little I have seen of the work of the Telegraph Administration would relegate it to the days of the post chaise and stage coach and then let the above mentioned chaise and coach in about seventeen laps ahead of that which is supposed to travel by wire. Yours in expectation, Ever Waiting Patiently.

It is the most durable of all decorations, lasting for years with freshness unimpaired, whereas wall-papers deteriorate from the first day by fading and accumulating dust and dirt.

Hall's Distemper is a thorough disinfectant, and is applied directly upon the wall, forming a hard surface, from which dust and dirt may be "spring-cleaned" by lightly sponging with warm water.

For thousands of years the symbol of law and order in Egypt had been the terrible "courbash," the stick or bastinado, by which means taxes were exacted, offenders were punished, and the arbitrary will of the administrators, high and low, was imposed.

A decree, prohibiting the use of the courbash was issued in 1883, on the initiative of Lord Dufferin, as one of the first acts of the British Occupation.

That dreadful instrument of authority gradually disappeared during the period of Lord Cromer's regime, during which the great change of social conditions in Egypt, of which it had been both the product and, so to speak, the symbol, had taken place.

All of the energy he had—and he is said to have been a powerful man—had been given to his adventure.

Such is the narrative of Charles L. Preston as it reached his superiors at Washington. Some day in his own words the experience may be related, for during the hazardous and weary months in Siberia the Colonel kept a diary which pictures in full details of his remarkable adventure. That record is almost the only possession of a one-time rich accumulation which Charles L. Preston left to his widow and son when he finished his work—besides the memory of inspiring achievement.

doomed, and he went back to Vladivostok. Then the American Red Cross, doing work in Siberia, sought his service. He jumped at the opportunity because he saw a chance to fulfil his original mission. The Red Cross commissioned him a Colonel and placed him in charge of a relief train. To this day, it is said, the Red Cross does not officially know that he was also working for the American Government on a highly important mission.

The relief train was well run by all accounts. As a Red Cross Colonel, Preston was a success. Under discouraging conditions, he carried the train forward deeper into the country. And in each town he searched for platinum. Usually he entered with as much pomp and ceremony as possible. His first procedure was to visit the chief officials of the community. A Red Cross Colonel was a large and commanding person and his native dignity was such that nearly everywhere he was asked to review the local troops. These troop reviews soon became a useful part of his routine, for through them he first became acquainted with the soldiers, many of whom had come from the Ural Mountains. As he got familiar enough with the people to avoid suspicion he would inquire about platinum. Actually he obtained much in this way. But all the while he was working back into the country nearer to the source of supplies.

The strain of being both a Red Cross official, concerned only about relieving the needs of the people, and a scout for the American military machine, seeking to purchase secretly a needed war supply, was wearing on Preston. All his ingenuity, all his unusual powers of dealing with men, were called for. He had constantly to bargain closely. Behind him was the great need, and the precise instruction not to go above a definite figure. Limited in this way, necessary as the limitation undoubtedly was if national funds were not to be wasted, he had to continue.

The people he dealt with as a Red Cross agent must not be allowed to guess that he had other purposes. The Consul General at Vladivostok had allotted certain funds to him, and these were used for platinum. Often, however, he was compelled to barter with peasants and soldiers. Baked beans—"Boston Baked Beans,' so ran the legend on the cans—were the currency through which some of the platinum was obtained. Then he reached Ekaterinburg.

In Ekaterinburg he lingered long. The four cars of his train were put on a side track, and his real campaign for platinum began. The Red Cross Colonel used all the pomp and circumstance he could arrange. Music and military reviews were blended with relief work. Preston established intimate relations with the local authorities. A banker in Ekaterinburg was the chief quarry. This man was the agent of a number of men who possessed a large quantity of the desired metal.

Day by day the banker and the relief worker would bargain over the platinum. The Russian said he had 40,000 ounces. Every few days, in order to stimulate the eagerness of the American, he would announce that some of the metal had been withdrawn by the owner. Preston, strictly limited as he was in the price he could offer, was seriously handicapped in this game. Finally one day, to bring the matter to a test, he offered a high price for 100,000 ounces. Agents of the German War Office were also secretly negotiating for the platinum, and the American found that he could not obtain so large a quantity at any price.

Then a curious situation developed. In order to do his work effectually, Preston had cultivated the local military authorities. Through the commandant in Ekaterinburg he was taken to the house where the Czar Nicholas had been confined and where the royal family had been murdered. One day, as a mark of friendship, the story, or a story, was told the Red Cross Colonel and he was taken through the house, and the scene was re-enacted for him. As later he recounted it to Mr. Cutler, the facts were that one of the minor officials at Moscow gave the order for killing the Czar without the sanction of his superiors. The man, who happened to be in charge of all prisoners in Russia, used his opportunity, and the order went through. Finally it reached Ekaterinburg and a particularly brutal captain. This man, so ran the account brought back by Charles L. Preston, had the family huddled together in a room and shot to death.

Such was the story confided to the American as a mark of friendship.

But confidences are sometimes dangerous possessions, and soon, in a subtle way, Preston began to get word that if he expected to leave Russia alive he must go out quickly. He knew too much. So negotiation with the banker was hurried, and finally 20,000 ounces of platinum were obtained from him. Then the hard way out of Siberia was traversed. Here and there the Red Cross Colonel was compelled to be a road builder. He stopped in various places to administer relief. All the while he continued to buy platinum. Finally, after about six months, he reached Vladivostok and delivered his accumulations of about 50,000 ounces to the Consul General, who transferred it to the keeping of the Admiral of the American fleet.

Preston then took a boat to the United States. He went direct to Washington and made his report. Having completed his work, he went to his home at Campello, Mass., to visit his wife and his little son. Within three hours after he reached home he died, a victim of the strain of his work.

"SUNSHINE MOLLY"
A Tense and Gripping Drama of the Oil Fields

This drama of life in the oil fields is not lacking in its comedy element. The widow Budd, a new arrival in town, furnishes many smiles. Pat O'Brien, owner of a non paying oil well, exudes good followship in spite of his troubles.
